Weekly Market Update-

Indian markets outperformed global peers this week after the U.S. announced a reduction in tariffs on Indian exports to 18%, which triggered a significant gap-up at market open. However, the Union Budget disappointed investors, as the increase in Securities Transaction Tax (STT) led to Nifty50 a sharp intra-day decline of around 750 points.

The RBI's first monetary policy of 2026 maintained the repo rate at 5.25% with a neutral stance, as anticipated, providing stability but limited fresh momentum. Consequently, markets remained range-bound during a volatile session on Friday, with Nifty50 closing at 25,693.70, Bank Nifty at 60,120.55, and Sensex at 83,580.40.

Following the tariff announcement, the rupee strengthened from its all-time lows, while Brent crude came under pressure due to rising tensions between the U.S. and Iran. Gold and silver corrected from recent highs.

The IT sector faced significant corrections both globally and in India, as new AI tools threaten traditional IT services by performing tasks that were outsourced to Indian companies. This has raised concerns over revenue visibility, margins, and deal flow, putting considerable pressure on the sector.

Overall, the market is navigating a mix of macro developments, policy actions, and technological disruptions, suggesting a cautious, selective approach for investors in the near term.

RBI Holds Repo Rate at 5.25% in Feb 2026 MPC; Stance Remains Neutral

The Reserve Bank of India's Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) met Feb 4-6, 2026 and kept the key repo rate unchanged at 5.25% after already cutting it multiple times since early 2025. The MPC also retained a neutral policy stance, signalling flexibility based on future data. Markets focused on liquidity measures and transmission, with expectations that RBI will manage inflation and growth carefully amid recent macro developments.

Trump Says US-India Trade Deal Agreed; Tariffs Slashed to 18%

U.S. President Donald Trump announced on Feb 2, 2026 that the United States and India agreed on a trade deal. As part of it, U.S. tariffs on Indian goods will be reduced from 25% to 18%, with an extra 25% punitive tariff linked to Russia oil purchases removed, bringing the effective rate to 18%. Trump said India will halt Russian oil imports and buy more U.S. products. Indian markets reacted positively to the announcement.

Union Budget 2026

Union Budget 2026 focused on fiscal discipline, long-term growth, and self-reliance. The government retained a 4.3% fiscal deficit target for FY27 while increasing capital expenditure and supporting manufacturing, MSMEs, infrastructure, and green technologies. Major pushes included high-speed rail, semiconductor expansion, SME funds, and strategic minerals. Tax measures saw higher STT on F&O, changes in buyback taxation, and relief for IT and tourism. Markets reacted negatively due to tax and capex concerns, despite strong reform intent.

The Indian IT Sector Under Pressure

The Indian IT sector has underperformed since late 2024 due to a mix of global trade tensions, weak earnings, high valuations, and slowing demand in key markets like the US, Europe, and Japan. Brief optimism in early 2026 faded as rapid adoption of advanced AI tools raised concerns over traditional outsourcing models. These developments increased fears around margin pressure and deal slowdown. As a result, investor sentiment remains weak, and near-term challenges for the sector persist.

Bitcoin Crashes Below $61,000, Erasing Gains Since Trump's Election

The slide extended losses to the lowest level since October 2024, spread across ETFs and crypto-related companies, and reflected broader risk-off sentiment in financial markets. Weak demand and redemptions amplified declines, reinforcing a defensive mood among investors in the crypto space.
